INTELLIGENCE FROM LLOYD'S, April 9.

The Agnes, Bailey, sailed from Jamaica in December last, and is put back very leaky.

Captain Walker, of the Alert, arrived at Africa from Bristol, on the 9th of November spoke the Lyon, Captain Hicks, from London for Angola, in lat. 6. 42. N. and 24. W. from London.

The Robert and Sally, Brown, from London to Lancaster, was totally lost off Scilly the 26th ult.

Londonderry, 2. Put into Loughswilly dismasted, the Harris, of Workington, from Virginia to Liverpool.

The Peggy, (supposed Captain Bean) from London to Charlestown, was off the Bar the 14th of February.

The Betty, Watson, from London to New York, was spoke the 18th of February in lat. 20. 20. long. 57. 30. all well.

Londonderry, 30. The Charlotte, Maine, from Drumthorn to Newry, is put on shore on the Back Strand of Magilligan; the ship will be entirely lost, most of the cargo, if not the whole (being deal boards) will be saved.

The Maria, Wood, from Hull to the Baltic, is lost near the Sound.

The Priscilla, Ratcliffe, from Shields to London, is lost near Yarmouth, only the masts and two men saved.

The Dorothy, Johnson, was lost coming out of Shields harbour, Elinore, March 27. The 24th, little wind at NE and NNE, with clear weather. The 25th, a fresh breeze at SE and SSE. Yesterday it blew fresh at SE and NE with a fall of snow. This day a fresh breeze, and strong frost, wind NW and NNW; the current has carried a great deal of ice out of the Sound. By report of some fishermen this day from Sweden, two English vessels were yesterday seen by the Cole, but suppose are kept back by the ice, and will, we hope, run for a harbour in Norway.

Elinore, March 30. The Sound continues full of ice, and the frost severe as ever. The 28th, wind SW, almost calm and clear. Yesterday, SE and ESE, a fresh breeze. This day, ENE, and a keen frost. Also there is advice from Marstrand, that the Catharine, brimmet, from Hull, had got in there by the help of the Diving Company, and would undergo some repair; she was bound to Koenigsburg.

From the London Papers, April 10.

Malta, March 1. A Squadron is fitting out, by order of the Grand Master, which is to join that of Venice, to go on an expedition against Tunis; after which the two fleets are to join the Spanish fleet in an attack upon the city of Algiers.

Berlin, March 30. According to the letters from Warsaw, fresh difficulties have arisen respecting the city of Dantzic, which make it apprehended the conferences will be interrupted. However, it is hoped they will be recommenced as soon as the courier, which is dispatched to Petersburg, returns. These letters add, that the Russians are marching towards the frontiers of Poland.

It is assured that the King of Sweden will visit this city on his return to his kingdom.

Utrecht, April 5. We have just learned, that M. de Thulemeyer, Envoy Extraordinary from the King of Prussia, sent a letter the 30th ult. to their High Mightinesses, from the King his master, since which there is nothing else talked of in the city, as this letter is said to be of the utmost importance to the republic.

Politics are so profoundly mysterious at Venice, that we hear of the Bey of Tunis declaring war against that republic, without knowing the occasion of the quarrel; we have just learned, however, that the foundation of it was laid above a year ago.

Rotterdam, April 5. On Saturday night, this whole city was in an uproar. The Burgher Company under Lieutenant Colonel Jean-Jacob Elzevier, whose turn it was to mount guard at the Stadthouse, had drawn up 23 usual for that purpose, under Lieutenant Swyndrecht, when they were assailed by a very numerous mob, crying Vivat Orange (Long live the Prince of Orange) who threatened to force two of the Burghers, whom they particularly disliked, from their ranks. The company attempted to march to their post, but the crowd was so great, that they could not get on. Orders were then given to fire, which they did, and wounded seven or eight people. As soon as this was heard at the Stadthouse, the alarm bell was rung; the firing dispersed the mob for a few minutes, but they soon assembled in greater force, and when the company got to the Stadthouse, they were most violently attacked, and obliged to fire several times, by which many persons were killed. Two or three of the foremost in the affray were then taken, and put into confinement. Two of the wounded, of which there are a vast number, are since dead, and six are dying. In the morning, every thing seemed quiet. On Sunday night, Mr Wigrop's company mounted guard, having mostly orange-coloured cockades in their hats. The disturbance seems at this moment to be increasing. There is an immense mob about the Stadthouse, who demand first, that the prisoners be released; secondly, that the Volunteers (a corps in opposition to the Orange Interest) be abolished; and, thirdly, a Fiat is to the request of the Burghers. The whole place is in an uproar. God grant us a speedy end to this disturbance, but we fear it will have some dreadful consequences, as it seems to be a contest between the Orange Interest and the opposite party.

† Elected instead of Members in the interest of Mr Fox.

‡ Elected instead of Members who voted for Mr Pitt.

At the close of the poll for Westminster, this day, the numbers stood as follow:

Lord Hood	5218
Sir Cecil Wray	4788
Mr Fox	4472

This day the Sheriffs met again at Guildhall, to make a declaration of the late poll for representatives in Parliament for the city of London, when, on casting up the books, the numbers that voted for each candidate were found to be as given in our paper of Tuesday last. But a scrutiny being demanded in favour of Mr Atkinson, and vice versa for Mr Sawbridge, against Mr Atkinson, the same was agreed to, and the necessary books and lists ordered to be prepared for the purpose.

The last scrutiny for the city of London happened fifty years ago, viz. Tuesday the 9th of April, 1734, and it is remarkable that the majority, on the close of the poll, was then as now, only seven, the numbers being:

For Bosworth	3326
Selwyn	3319

On the scrutiny it appeared that four persons had polled (for Bosworth) whose company had no livery, viz. two gardeners, one druggist, and one long-bow string-maker, which reduced the total number of legal voters to 6641; and the number of voters disqualified on each side being exactly 100, Mr Bosworth was declared duly elected by a majority of three.

When a scrutiny is demanded, the candidates are immediately to nominate six scrutineers, and the presiding officer, within six days, to deliver a true copy of the poll, signed by him. The scrutiny is then to begin within ten days after, and must be proceeded on day by day (Sundays excepted) to finish within fifteen days. Within four days after the scrutiny is finished, declaration is to be made which of the candidates is duly elected, with the number of legal voters on the scrutiny.

Many well-meaning politicians entertain the idea, that shortening the duration of Parliaments will effectually remove that corruption, from whence all our misfortunes have arisen: but others, upon more probable grounds, are of opinion, that unless the representation is upon a more adequate footing, the disease, though it may be palliated, cannot be effectually cured.

There are several Boroughs, where the electors do not amount to 20, the small number of which makes the expense of coming in easy; obtain 11 of the 20, and the place is secured. There are also 31 Boroughs, in none of which the electors amount to 40 in numbers, and when the personal influence is considered, (money out of the question) arising from tenantry and other dependencies, it is most likely the majority of these forty may be obtained without any considerable charge.

This shameful mockery of representation cannot be better illustrated, than by the following comparison:

On Wednesday Lieutenant Colonel Franks arrived at the Secretary of State's Office from America, with the ratification, on the part of Congress, of the treaties concluded with the United States by Great Britain and the other powers engaged in the late war. About three o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr Franks set off for Paris.

Letters from Amsterdam, which arrived yesterday, mention accounts to have been received from Batavia, that some very disagreeable disputes had arisen between the English garrison of Trincomalee, and the Dutch commandant, who had been sent to take possession of that fortress according to the fifth article of the Treaty of Pacification. In consequence of which, the Governor of Batavia had dispatched a frigate to the English Chief at Madras, complaining in very high terms of this infringement of the Preliminary articles.

The above transaction, it is said, owes its origin to the intrigues of the French, who by no means wishes affairs to remain quiet in the East Indies. Every engine of corruption has been exerted by that political power to detach the States of Holland from their connexion with this country, since the breaking out of the American war, and it is well known they have been too successful.

On Tuesday last, was opened in Westminster Abbey, the monument, which, by a vote of Parliament, is erected to the late Earl of Chatham. There are figures in this monument, and yet the idea on which it was designed is the simplest possible. Lord Chatham, with Prudence and Fortitude on a large scale, occupy the upper part; the lower group consists of Britannia, seated on a rock, with the Ocean and the Earth at her feet, by which is exhibited the effect of his wisdom and fortitude, in the greatness and glory of the nation. The statue of the Earl is in his parliamentary robes; he is in the action of speaking, the right hand thrown forward and elevated, and the whole attitude strongly expressing that species of oratory for which his Lordship was so justly celebrated. Prudence has her usual symbols, a serpent twined round a mirror. Fortitude is characterised by the shaft of a column, and clothed in a lion's skin. The energy of this figure strongly contrasts the repose and contemplative character of the figure of Prudence; Britannia, as mistress of the sea, holds in her right hand the trident of Neptune; Ocean is entirely naked except that his symbol the dolphin is so managed that decency is perfectly secured with the least possible detriment to the statue; his action is agitated, and his countenance severe, which is opposed by the utmost ease in the figure of the Earth, who is leaning on a terrestrial globe, her head is crowned with flowers, which also lies in some profusion on the plinth of the statue. This monument is the work of Mr Bacon, the same artist who executed that erected to his Lordship at Guildhall. The inscription is as follows:

The following is the circular letter written to the merchants of the other great trading nations in America, and has been so generally approved, that it will soon be laid on the table of all those nations, particularly the British, who, both in their prohibitions and in their execution, have manifested greater severity than others.

GENTLEMEN,
Philadelphia, Jan. 3. 1784.
THE merchants of Philadelphia, impressed with a sense of the importance of commerce, and of the propriety of its being governed by such regulations as may best promote its usefulness both to the nation and to individuals, have appointed a committee of their number, to take these objects into consideration, and devise measures for the amendment of these salutary purposes. On comparing the present state of our commercial regulations, with those of other nations, the contrast exhibits such striking circumstances of advantage to the citizens of the United States, as seem to demand general attention. We therefore take the liberty to address you as fellow-citizens having a common concern in the subject in contemplation.

Our ports remain open to all nations, without restriction or discrimination. Foreigners of any description may enter with their ships and merchandize, and depart at pleasure with whatever articles they may choose to take, on terms of perfect equality with our own citizens. But the citizens of the United States do not meet with equal freedom in the ports of other nations. The Courts of Europe, well aware that it is one of the first objects of a commercial people to find the best market for their manufactures, and wishing to facilitate the introduction of their products into this country, have not yet denied our vessels an entrance into their home-ports with articles as might lawfully be admitted from hence in their ships; though some of them, particularly the British, have subjected our vessels to greater imposts than their own.

But it is in their Colonies that we must look for a market for a large proportion of our commodities; and there are not restrictions in some, and prohibitions in others, which only abridge us in the choice of a market, but aim at depriving us of the common right of being the carriers of our own property; a right as once so highly important to the interests of individuals, and to those national benefits which arise from the cultivation of marine affairs as a nursery for ships and seamen.

These circumstances are too well known to need more particular mention on this occasion, and their consequences too evident to be acquiesced in without seeking a remedy. It is certainly the right of every sovereign power to regulate and control the commerce of their own ports: We must, therefore, look to the judicious exercise of our own rights for this amendment of those advantages and reciprocal benefits in commerce to which our situation and circumstances fairly entitle us. To do this with propriety and due effect, may require time and deliberation. The subject is of great magnitude, and involves in it many important considerations, which peculiarly claim the attention of those experienced in commerce.

Presuming that our brethren in the other States feel themselves equally interested with us in these considerations, and wishing to harmonize with them in whatever measures may be adopted, we content ourselves, for the present, with making a general tender of our efforts in the common cause, without venturing to suggest any particular mode for their operation.

We cannot suppose it necessary to apologize for the freedom we use in making this overture, and in requesting a free communication of our sentiments and opinions as speedily as possible; nor can we doubt but that you will cheerfully co-operate with us in a business of such great and general concernment.

We are, with due respect,
GENTLEMEN,
Your most obedient and most humble servants,

CHARLES PETIT. THOMAS FITZSIMONS.

Extract of a letter from London, April 10.
"The noise about elections begins somewhat to subside. It is evident that a very great majority of members will be returned in favour of the present Ministry. The rejection of Lord John Cavendish at York, and the certain defeat of Mr Fox in Westminster, were there no other proofs or symptoms of this political event, might alone be considered as arguments that it will infallibly happen. In the mean time, Mr Fox is indefatigable in his efforts to turn the tide against him, by night and by day: But so general is the prejudice against him, that it is thought he cannot succeed. The great body of those that have both a right and inclination to vote, are already polled: They may now walk through Covent Garden from one corner of it to another.

Next to the elections, the particular circumstance which distinguishes the present day in this metropolis, is, the vast concourse here of foreigners of all ranks, and especially from France. Every body allows that there never was so great a number of French in London as at present. The French nation has undoubtedly acquired, of late years, no small glory and by their signal military arms, by their pursuits in science, a spirit of adventure and of travelling, and showing themselves, in the natural result of the glories I have just mentioned. But, whatever be the cause, the effect is certain. At every turn you meet a Croix de St. Louis. I wonder how all the poor veterans, in so expensive a place, make a shift to live.

The Marquis de Bouille, the Duke of Chartres, the Count Lauzun, the Marquis of Conflans, with others of the French Noblesse, are much with his Majesty, who talks with them in the French language with great fluency. I have been in company with some of our French visitors at different times. They express the highest esteem and veneration for Englishmen. They regret that there should ever be any difference between the two first nations in the world. Les Anglais et les Français sont véritablement des hommes. Pour les autres.—Here they are silent; but their grins, squirts with their mouth, and the action of their hands and head, express much more than could be done by words. They express a confident hope, that the progress of philosophy, humanity, and commerce, will one day wear off all antipathies, and unite the French and English in interests and affections, as they are already united by nature."

The London Gazette brought by this day's post, contains addresses to his Majesty from the boroughs of Hertford and Langport Eastover.

Monday last died here, Mr Thomas Hogg, late banker in Edinburgh.

Sir James Duff was unanimously elected Member of Parliament for the shire of Banff, the 8th current.

Henry Dalrymple, Esq; is unanimously re-elected representative for the county of East Lothian.

The Sheriff of Invernesshire has fixed Thursday the 29th of April, for the election of that county.

James Townend Oswald, Esq; is chosen delegate for the town of Burntisland.

The Council and Magistrates of Aberdeen have unanimously elected William Young, Esq; present Provost, to be their delegate at the ensuing election of a Member for that district, which is to be held at Bervie.

The Magistrates and Council of Dumfries, on Saturday last, made choice of John McMurdo, Esq; Chamberlain to his Grace the Duke of Queensberry, to be their delegate; and on Monday the burgh of Lochmaben made choice of Robert Maxwell, Esq; Provost of that burgh, their delegate, at the ensuing election; both which gentlemen are in the interest of Sir James Johnstone, Bart, who, it is said, will be the successful candidate for that district of burghs.

A few days ago twenty-five guineas were found in the charity box of the hospital of Dumfries, which had been privately put in by some charitable person, which has afforded a seasonable assistance to that house in this dear season.

The Friendship, Ruchie, arrived at Leith from London this morning.

Letter from a Gentleman in the parish of Skene, April 8.

"On Tuesday last, John Ronald in Riddich, in this parish, had gone to deliver a cow that he had sold to a man in Rogers-hill, a neighbouring farm. At night his neighbours were surprised that he had not returned, but concluded, that as he had no family, he had been prevailed upon to spend a night with a relation, who lives near the man to whom he had sold the cow. As he did not make his appearance on Wednesday night, they set out in search of him on Thursday morning; and found him lying drowned with his face in a small rivulet, which lies in the hollow ground to the north of the Congraig road, between Rogers-hill and hill of Cures. The poor man was infirm, and considerably advanced in life. He was liable to be suddenly seized with a distemper called by the country people the griping gout. When it came upon him, it generally overwhelmed him with sickness, and instantaneously deprived him of the use of his limbs. As the place in which he was drowned, could not be dangerous even to a child, his death is attributed to a sudden attack of this distemper."

The following curious paragraph is extracted from the New York Morning Post of the 10th February; it will show the temper and spirit of the Americans, and their abhorrence of a set of unfortunate men who adhered to their loyalty, and the mother country.

Extract of a letter from Philadelphia, Feb. 4.

"On Saturday last was whipped at the cart's tail, for robbery, one of George the Third's pretty subjects. This fellow now goes by the name of Captain Phillips, and under his good friend Sir Harry Clinton learned such a knack of thieving, while he commanded a whale-boat along this coast, under his good master, that now having lost his protection, he, with a number more of those lads called Loyalists, are swarming among us, and have set up business in a small way; and though many of them may not chuse to steal themselves, yet, by harboring and encouraging others, may do much mischief to the good inhabitants of these states."

On the 2d instant, the important question of PROTECTING DUTIES came on in the Irish House of Commons. After a long debate, the question was negatived on a division 123 against 57. Majority 86.

Had the above question on equalizing duties, that is, the putting Irish and British commodities upon the same footing in point of duty paid, been carried, it would have made the difference of some hundred thousands per annum against the trade of Great Britain, and would have operated particularly on the articles of wrought sugars and woollens.

Extract of a letter from Dublin, April 6.

"Yesterday, about five hundred distressed manufacturers, rendered desperate by the decision of Friday night, (against the protecting duties) assembled about the Parliament House, and expressed by hisses, groans, &c. their disapprobation of the members who voted against the question; some of the mob forced into the gallery, from whence they began to harangue the members; but the magistrates and a party of the military arriving at the time, two were apprehended and committed to the New Goal, and the rest were dispersed.

"In consequence of this disturbance, the guards were doubled at the Castle, at the main and other city guards; the troops in garrison at the barracks were kept under arms, and at night patrols of horse and foot paraded through the city, to preserve the public peace.

"On Saturday next his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant will proceed to the House of Peers in the usual state, to give the royal assent to such bills as may then be ready, after which he will prorogue the Parliament."

To the Worthy PROVOSTS, MAGISTRATES, GUILD, and TRADES COUNSELLORS, CONVENERS, and DEACONS of the INCORPORATED TRADES of PERTH, DUNDEE, ST ANDREWS, CUPAR, and FORFAR.

GENTLEMEN,
I thank you for the honour done me, by the early, public, and unanimous declaration you have made, of your intention to chuse me your representative in the present Parliament. In return, I shall persevere in considering this great trust as a delegation for your benefit, and not my own. I have the honour to be, with great respect,

Gentlemen, your devoted and obliged humble servant,

London, April 8. 1784. GEORGE DEMPSTER.

Sehir, April 9. 1784.
This day, the Magistrates and Town Council here, unanimously agreed to give their vote to Captain Moore for representing them in the ensuing Parliament. On this occasion, his Grace the Duke of Buccleugh, accompanied by his Grace the Duke of Hamilton, and several Gentlemen in the neighbourhood, gave an elegant entertainment to the Magistrates and Council. The Magistrates and Council, and the several Incorporations of the burgh, with the banners of their respective trades displayed, next day waited upon the noble Duke, and the candidate, and walked with them in procession from the Cross to the extremity of the burgh's territory, where they took their carriages.

Queenferry, April 12. 1784.
At a Meeting of the Magistrates and Town-Council of this burgh, held to-day, at the request of Colonel James Francis Erskine, the Colonel appeared, and offered himself a candidate to represent them in the ensuing Parliament. After hearing him at great length, he retired, when the Council unanimously declared their choice in favour of Major James Campbell, their late member, to be their representative. And a letter to that purpose was immediately sent to Colonel Erskine, informing him, at the same time, that, as they were thus determined, it was unnecessary for him to be at any further trouble in soliciting them.

Feuing Ground in the Extended Royalty.

At Edinburgh, the 14th day of April, 1784.

WHICH day, the Right Honourable the Lord Provost, the Magistrates, and Council of the City of Edinburgh being assembled; it was reported from the Lord Provost's Committee, that they, having considered his Lordship's motion as to the present method of feuing ground in the extended Royalty, and being satisfied that abstracting from the great expence of purchasing grounds, and building the Bridge, the purchase-money hitherto received, is only equal to the expence laid out in making common Seiners, Levelling, Paving the Streets, and other incidental charges upon the extended Royalty itself. They were, therefore, of opinion, that to the present ten-duty fifty per cent. should be added in time coming; and that, along with the purchase-money now payable, each feuer should pay the expence of the common pipe that runs along the front of his feus as formerly, as the said report bears. Which being considered by the Magistrates and Council, they approved of the said report, and did, and now do resolve and enact accordingly; and further appointed their resolution to be published in the Edinburgh news-papers.

Extracted forth of the Council Records of the City of Edinburgh, by ALEXA. DUNCAN, Depute.

The Creditors of Mr Pringle of Crichton.
NOTICE is hereby given, That the Price of the Estate is to be paid at Whitunday next, and will be then divided among the Creditors.

THE Trustees upon the sequestrated estate of GEORGE THOMSON, Merchant in Aberdeen, request that the whole of his creditors, or their doers, will meet within the house of Alexander Macon, vintner in Aberdeen, upon Tuesday the 27th of April current, at 12 o'clock noon, when a state of the affairs under their management, and other matters of importance to the creditors, will be laid before them.

NOTICE
To the Creditors of JOHN JAMIESON of Langside.
THE Trustee having sold the Lands of Langside, and the price being payable at Whitunday next, the creditors of the said John Jamieson are requested to lodge their grounds of debt, with oaths on the verity thereof, either with Mr. Ludovick Grant, accountant in Edinburgh, the trustee, or with John Telfer, writer in Edinburgh, betwixt and the 25th day of April next; in order that their respective interests in the trust-funds may be ascertained; and that the creditors may receive payment of their debts as soon as the fund for that purpose comes into the hands of the Trustee.

To the Creditors of ROBERT HEWAT, Yarn Merchant in Perth.
THE sequestration of the personal estate of the said Robert Hewat, formerly awarded, having been lately renewed, with the addition of all lands and other heritable subjects belonging to him, and James Ross, writer in Perth having been elected by the Creditors sole trustee, upon the said sequestrated estate, the said James Ross, does, therefore, hereby require the whole Creditors of the said Robert Hewat, to lodge with him, as trustee for said estate, their grounds of debt, with oaths of verity thereon, betwixt and the 30th day of September next, being nine calendar months from the 30th day of December last, when the said sequestration was renewed; with certification to those Creditors who fail to do so, that they will be cut out from the first distribution of the bankrupt's effects.

This intimation is therefore given in terms of the statute,
JAMES ROSS.

NOTICE
To the Creditors of CUMMING, M'KENZIE and Co. Merchants in Glasgow, and JOHN CUMMING and JOHN M'KENZIE, two of the partners of the above Company as individuals.
THE real and personal estates of the saids Cumming, M'Kenzie and Co., and of John Cumming and John M'Kenzie, as individuals; having been sequestrated upon the 10th day of January last; upon the present bankrupt act, and a meeting of their creditors having been held at Glasgow upon the 20th day of the same month, William Robertson, merchant in Glasgow, was elected interim factor; and at an after meeting upon the 24th of February last, he was chosen trustee.

To CREDITORS OF FRANCIS GARRETT and COMPANY, and CHARLES GASCIGNE.
THE sequestration of the personal estate of Francis Garrett and Company, late Merchant at Carron Wharf, and Charles Gascigne, their acting partner, as an individual, having lately been renewed, with the addition of all lands and other heritable subjects, and the Creditors having, at their meeting of the 13th of March last past, unanimously elected Walter Hog, accountant in Edinburgh to be trustee on the said sequestrated estates. He, therefore, as directed by the statute, hereby requires the whole Creditors to lodge with him as trustee aforesaid, their grounds of debt, and oaths of verity thereon, before the 10th day of October next, being nine calendar months from the 10th day of January last, when the said sequestration was renewed: And as some of the Creditors who proved their debts under the former sequestration may consider it unnecessary for them again to produce their grounds of debt, with affidavits thereon, he begs leave to mention, that a reproduction of the grounds of debt, with an oath of verity thereon, is considered to be absolutely necessary. He therefore intreats the Creditors to attend to Sect. 31. of the statute, where it is declared, that those Creditors who shall neglect to comply with the requisition now made, of proving their debts before the expiry of the nine calendar months from the renewal of the sequestration, shall not be entitled to any share of the first distribution of the debtors estate.

To the Creditors of Mess. M'CLURE and CUMING, late Merchants in Ayr.
THAT upon the 16th January 1784, the Court of Session, under the authority of the late statute of the 23d of the King, intitled, "An act for rendering the payment of Creditors of insolvent debtors more equal and expeditious," &c. renewed and continued the sequestration formerly granted, of the personal estates belonging to the bankrupts, with the addition of all lands and heritable subjects belonging to them, within the jurisdiction of the Court; and Gilbert Hamilton, merchant in Glasgow being appointed trustee, the said Gilbert Hamilton, in compliance with the rules prescribed by the act of Parliament, hereby requires all the Creditors of the said Mess. M'Clure and Cuming, to lodge with him, the trustee, their claims and vouchers or grounds of debt against the bankrupts, with oaths for proving the same, and that within nine calendar months from the date of the sequestration; which nine months expire the 16th October next, and that under the certification expressed in the said statute, viz. Johnstone, Esq. at Ayr.

TO BE SOLD.

THE Lands of ROSEHAUGH, lying in the parish of Spynie, and shire of Elgin.

These lands contain in whole about 184 acres, 132 of which are arable, of an exceeding good soil, and the remainder pasture; the whole capable of great improvement. They are held of a subject superior, and the present free rent is about 70 l. sterling. The lands are presently let from year to year, except a small part which is let in tack for three years from Whitunday next 1784.

For further particulars, apply to William Grant, Esq. of Grantgreen, near Elgin, or Alexander Nairne, writer in Edinburgh.

LANDS in AYRSHIRE, for SALE.

TO BE SOLD.

THE Lands and Barony of KILLOCH, lying in the parish of Mauchline, and shire of Ayr, containing 1458 Scots acres of arable and meadow land, all contiguous, which are divided into twenty farms, most of which are lately inclosed, and subdivided by ditches and quick-set earth dykes; the hedges whereof are in a healthy and thriving condition; and the farm houses are in good repair, most of them being newly built.—There is an inexhaustible fund of lime-stone in several parts of the lands.—At Killoch Mains there is a level free quarry, with an excellent draw kiln working, and a coal-level-free going within an hundred yards of the kiln, from which no part of the estate is above one mile distant, which renders the improvement of the lands certain and easy, lime being the nature best adapted and most successful upon this land, which is generally a strong, deep, loamy, clay soil, and by means of lime being had, produces weighty crops, at a small cost.—There are two turnpike roads, leading from Dumfries to Kilmarnock and Glasgow, passing through this estate.—And close by, and on each side, is an extensive field of proven coal, of good quality, on which is a steam engine—and a fine engine-house is nearly completed thereupon, and materials for completing the machinery are collected for putting together, and setting up.—and the engine pit is sunk to the coal, and when finished, (which may be done at a small further expence) there is no doubt of the coal's yielding a clear rent of 4000 l. a year, being in the middle of a populous country, and the nearest coal to the large and thriving village of Mauchline, from which it is only two miles distant.—There is a corn and flint mill on this estate, both lately erected, and well supplied with water, at all seasons.

The present rent of these lands is only 6700 l. 2s. 11d. Sterling money, 9 bulls oat-meal, 16 hens, 16 chickens, and 34 loads of coal leading. But there are at present out of tack, and let only from year to year in pasture, 270 acres at the low rent of 38 l. 10s. which, when properly reseed and limed, will let, on a nineteen year's lease, at 1300 l. a year, or about 700 l. additional rent.—there are also 220 acres in tack, which were let before any improvement by lime was begun on the estate, on the expiry of which, in a few years hence, will bring an additional rent of 600 l. per annum, the present rent being only 660 l. And there is a high probability of the lime quarries and draw kiln letting at 500 l. a year, besides serving the demands of the estate. There is a large lake of water on the estate, covering many acres of valuable meadow land, which can be recovered and laid dry at a very small expence: So that there is the most reasonable expectation, that this estate, in a few years, with a proper degree of attention, and a small further expence, will yield a rent of 12000 l. per annum.

The lands hold of the Crown or Prince, and their several old extents amount to 141 16s. and 3d.—The inventory of the writs, and rental of the lands, may be seen in the hands of Patrick Robertson, writer in Glasgow, who hath power to treat with any person inclining to purchase. And rentals of the estate may be seen in the hands of Gavin Hamilton, writer in Mauchline, the factor, and Baltho Alexander Hutchinson, in Galden, either of whom will show the lands, and inform of further particulars.

N. B. If this estate is not sold by private bargain, between and Lamas next, it will be exposed to SALE by public roup, within the Tontine Coffee-house of Glasgow, upon Wednesday the 11th of August next, between two and three afternoon.

Upwards of 40 acres were laid down with grass seeds last spring, and a field in spring 1782. There is besides a great deal of natural grass, which, from its vicinity to Inverness, must be highly beneficial to the tenant. A Dwelling House and office houses were all built last summer.

TO be SOLD by public roup or auction, within the Exchange Coffee

House, Edinburgh, on Wednesday the 30th of June 1784, betwixt the hours of six and seven afternoon.

I. The Barony of CLOWDEN, alias NEW

ARK, lying in the parish of Kirkpatrick Inroy, and Stewartry of Kirkcubright, comprehending the lands and farms of Rowton-bridge,

Upper Nether, and Mid Dalwhairn, Legg, Roachtree, Halhill, Cul-

boxholm, Newark Braes, Whinnihill, Ingleson, Galside, or Kirkpatrick and Clowden, with the corn, barley, and wheat mills, a salmon fishing in the river Clowden, and the vice patronage of the parish of Kirkpatrick Inroy.

This estate is of a remarkable good soil, well inclosed and subdivided with stone dykes, and thriving fall grown hedges: it is at present in good condition, and there is sufficiency of shell marle upon it to keep it so. It contains about 1870 acres, whereof 1500 are arable and meadow, about 90 wood land, and the remainder very good pasture. The present rent is 8411 l. 6s. 1d. Sterling, but a considerable rise may be depended on at the expiry of the current lease: It holds of the Crown, and stands rated in the Cess-books at 1260 l. 10s. Scots. The lands are valued, and the purchaser will have right to them.

The woods are well inclosed, and very thriving: at last cutting, they fold for upwards of 700 l. Sterling, exclusive of the woods on Halhill, which are presently fit for sale.

This estate is pleasantly situated on the banks of the river Clowden, within three miles of the town of Dumfries, and it has many delightful situations upon it for building a mansion-house, which would command the view of the rivers Nith and Clowden, the town and port of Dumfries, the whole Gentlemen's seats in that rich and populous neighbourhood, the Solway frith, and the Cumberland hills.

II. The lands of Ower and Nether BARNCLEUGH, lying in the said parish and county, within a mile and an half of Clowden, consisting of about 200 acres, whereof 160 are arable, and 40 meadow, where there is an inexhaustible quantity of shell marle.

These lands are all sufficiently inclosed and subdivided with good stone walls. The present rent is only 50 l. but when the current lease expIRES, four years hence, a considerable rise will be got.

The tenants are valued, and the purchaser will have right to them.

III. The lands and estate of GELSTON, lying in the parishes of Kelton and Buttle, and county of Ayrshire, comprehending the farms of Boreland and Gelline, with the mill and mill-lands; and Craigley in the parish of Kelton and Buttle, in the parish of Buttle, containing 4000

1360 acres, all of an exceeding rich quality, well inclosed and subdivided, with stone walls, and full grown feitchable hedges.

On this estate, there is a good Mansion-house and offices, with a garden and orchard, and some thriving plantations; and an inexhaustible quantity of shell marle for improving the same, and for sale to the neighbouring heritors.

The estate is let to good tenants, at 600 l. 15s. 6d. yearly rent; the whole holds of the Crown, and the lands of Boreland afford a freehold qualification on the old extent. The tenants are valued, and the purchaser will have right to them in the parish of Buttle, and to a current tack of the tenants in the parish of Kelton.

The situation of Gelston is very convenient and inviting, being within three miles of the sea-port of Ayrshire, on the Solway frith, and two miles of the great military road leading from Carlisle to Portpatrick, to both of which there are good roads.

IV. These parts of the Barony of GLASNOCK, lying in the parish of Penningham and county of Wigton, comprehending the farms of Ower and Nether Galside, Killeal, Kirkcrist, and Killymore, with a salmon fishing in the river Bladnoch, and the superiority of the lands of Dummore and Carlisle, lying in the parish of Kirkcowan, and county of Wigton.

There are good grazing lands, both for black cattle and sheep. The present rent, including the feu-duties in Kirkcowan parish, is only 114 l. 12s. 9d. 6-12ths, but the tenants paid large gratuities in 1764, when their leases commenced; so in 1787, when they expire, a great rise may be depended on, large offers being already made. The lands are valued, and the tenants pay all the public burdens, stipend excepted.

V. The farm of CULSCADDEN, in the parish of Sorbie and county of Wigton, also part of the said Barony of Glasnock, let at 160 l. per annum, consisting of about 200 acres, all good arable land, except about 15 acres lying on the Bay of Wigton, and having a fine port for exporting the produce of the lands.

This farm all inclosed and subdivided, has within it an inexhaustible quantity of shell marle, and sea shells; and the kelp on the shore yields from ten to twelve guineas every third year.

The tenants are valued.

The title deeds, conditions of sale, tacks, rentals, plans, and measurements of the several estates before-mentioned, will be seen in the hands of William Campbell writer to the signet; and for further information apply to Alexander Farquharson accountant in Edinburgh, who has power to sell by private bargain, or by public roup, the estate of Clowden, Mr. Heron, jun. of Ingleson, the estate of Gelston, and Mr.

Cockburn at Cree-bridge, the lands in Wigton shire.
